ELEVENTH ANNIVERSARY

Concert and Dance Helped to Celebrate Clan Johnston's Birthday

A large gathering of clansmen as well as members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and friends of the organization met in Garfield hall last Friday night to celebrate their eleventh anniversary. Several recently discharged members who have been in service with American and Canadian troops were also there to help make a successful evening.

Robert Williams, chief of the Clan, presided, and welcomed everybody there. Mrs. John McGrath, the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, presented the Clan with a sum of money for the auxiliary.

A concert then was enjoyed. A double mixed quartet, consisting of Mrs. William Smith, Miss Mary Porter, Mrs. Alexander Valentine, Miss Agnes Thin; Wm. McEwan, Thomas McLeish, David Forbes, Robert Williams, and several solos, as well as the Johnston Male Quartet, were accompanied by John Hill.

Refreshments were served and then dancing was enjoyed.

The committee in charge consisted of James Page, James Gormie, Thomas Law, George Haddon, James Caldwell and John Elder.

Many Friends Show Their Good Wishes

Last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic G. Moore on Wolcott avenue, many friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Chase gave them a surprise party. And indeed it was a surprise party in every sense of the word, for Mr. and Mrs. Chase were spirited over to the house, and before they knew it, were taking part in a grand march of about fifty people. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Pray led the march and at the end the line divided, and down the center came Miss Edith Slater and Miss Beatrice Glover carrying beautiful bouquets of roses, sweetpeas and carnations. The bouquets were presented while Mrs. Moore read a most appropriate little original poem of good wishes and explanation. Best of all was the gold coin of $20.00 which was concealed with in the bouquet, and which showed the friendship of their friends whom the Chases leave behind them in Andover.

The evening's pleasures then proceeded with readings by Mrs. Mayo and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Archie Mayo, and songs by Mrs. Moore and Mr. McTernan. Refreshments were served and an informal happy time was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase are to live in Hampton, New Hampshire, and their many friends in town will miss them very much.

WOMEN IN ENGLAND

Mrs. French Showed Affect of War—No Petty Distinctions Any More

Mrs. Ernest French of London, England, gave a most interesting and enlightening talk yesterday afternoon on the Woman's Municipal Party in England, before the Equal Suffrage League their friends, at the home of Mrs. William Odlin.

Mrs. French came from London in February and she has had in these two months, a chance to observe the different way in which war has affected the two countries, England and America. Our people can probably never understand just how great and marvelous a change has been brought about in England, and how this change has affected chiefly the women of both the city and the country.

The fact which perhaps was most impressive, was the easy way in which suffrage came to the English women. They had been taking charge of every different branch of labor; their uniforms, signifying the ability to do a man's job, had become such a commonplace costume; full busy days; rich mingling with the poor; all interested in the one big common topic, freedom from militarism, all these various influences combined to make suffrage the only, and most natural outcome in the world.

And the best part of this mingling of rich and poor in England, is that there is now no longer class distinction. There is not the feeling of superiority. Outward manners may be hard to change, but in the heart, the feeling has changed. The ethical side of war has been at work in England as in France. It has not been here.

And so as women took charge of all branches of the work for their men who had gone, it was only natural that they should "slip" naturally into the work of voting. It was no more difficult to understand politics, than the intricacies of a munition machine or a trolley car's mechanism.

The work which the Citizens' Committee does, is most interesting. In different parts of the city are held monthly meetings for women, and at these meetings, all kinds of subjects are discussed by a speaker: public health, exercise, baths, school children's needs, ballroom, spring housecleaning, etc. After the talk, tea is served for a halfpenny. Mrs. French is the secretary and has charge of the Citizens' Committee, which is a branch of the Women's Municipal League.

After the talk by Mrs. French, tea was served, and everybody enjoyed talking to the speaker in an informal way.

GUILD EXHIBITION

Excellent Work Showed Splendid Cooperation Between Classes and Their Instructor, Miss Vivian Taylor

The many people who went to the Town Hall last Friday evening were well repaid and greatly pleased by the excellent exhibition of drills, dancing, marching and apparatus work which has been accomplished by the Andover Guild classes.

Physical training is an established part of one's education nowadays, and no one doubts the great advantage gained from the regular and systematic exercise. And the convincing work of Miss Vivian Taylor's classes has been steadily improving and growing, so that Friday night's closing exhibition of the term's work seemed to be the best ever.

The work of the boys was in charge of George Haddon. Miss Emily Walker played the piano, and that was largely responsible for the general effect of smoothness and spirit in the events. Miss Fannie Davis, who is superintendent of the Guild, has put such faithfulness and enthusiasm into her part of the work there, that she is also largely responsible for the success of the evening.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the awarding of prizes. And since, in all athletics, in fact, in all life, the spirit of good sportsmanship enters in, the prize of most value is probably the one given each year for "best spirit." That went to Miss Annie Haddon. Other prizes were as follows: for excellency of Free Arm Drill for beginners, Miss Esther Craig; for the Junior Combination Wand and Dumb Bell Drill, Wilfred Craig; for the Junior "Lady Dainty" dance, Miss Eva Cross; for the Japanese dance, Miss Gertrude Scannell; for the Indian Club Drill for Senior girls, Miss Annie Haddon; for the "Willow Wand" dance, for Seniors, Miss Annie Anderson. The prize for the Brownies went to Annie Ness; for excellency of apparatus work for the Senior boys, Frank Nelligan; for Junior boys, Christie Murphy; the prize for the exhibition waltz for the aesthetic dancing class went to Miss Phyllis Yates; the "Shepherdess Gavotte" dance to Miss Annie Vannett. The awarding of the prizes was by Miss Davis, supervisor of the Andover Guild House.

Obituary

MRS. REBECCA C. MALCOLM

On Wednesday morning, April 9th, there passed to rest one of Andover's oldest citizens, Mrs. Rebecca Carruthers Malcolm. Born in Ireland eighty-nine years ago, and left motherless at a very early age, she was given a home with a relative, John McCollum until she was old enough to go to a place when she went to work for a minister, a Mr. Young. She lived in that family until she came to this country at the age of nineteen.

Her first home in this country was with a family in Brechin Terrace, a Mr. Coggeswell, from this place she went to Deacon Peter Smith's. She worked for them some thirty years and was married from Deacon Smith's.

For fifty years she has lived in the home in which her last days were passed. Always cheerful even in life's darkest hours, she was much beloved by her many friends and neighbors. The patience with which she bore the pain and suffering of her long illness was a wonder to all who knew her, but to her it meant the night before the dawn when she should awake in the home that a loving Father had prepared for her. She is survived by her husband.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock, from her late home. Burial in West Parish Cemetery.

The annual general meeting of the Andover United will be held in the Abbott Village hall on May 5, when new officers will be elected and all business settled for the year.

3RD ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Large Attendance at Woman's Farm and Garden Conference Held at November Club House

One of the most successful events of this year's program at the November Club, was held Monday, under the auspices of the Social Science department. It was the third annual Farm and Garden Conference, and began at eleven in the morning, and continued through the luncheon hour and until four in the afternoon. The program contained six speakers, instructive, entertaining and interested in a variety of phases of work connected with the main subject of the day. That subject in general, might have been "Health" because certainly all the work discussed, tended toward creating healthy, happy persons. The subject however, was "Farms and Gardens" with a slight digression by Mr. Kelly, who told of soup kitchens.

By no means less interesting, was the exhibit of handwork which had been collected by the committee in charge, Mrs. Wm. A. Trow and Mrs. N. E. Bartlett. Most of it was the work of Andover women and showed skill and artistic ability. Braided rugs and mats, raffia baskets, lovely sweaters and scarfs, luncheon sets, canned vegetables and fruits, and several home-made hats, all told the story of busy hours and ingenious hands and minds. Mrs. Feeney had charge of the millinery exhibition and also showed the drafted patterns made by those in the government dressmaking class. A collection of hand painted and lustre china and glass exhibited by Mrs. Fred A. Wallace, was on sale, as well as books on flowers and birds and gardens from the Hampshire Book Shop in Northampton, owned by Miss Mary Byers Smith.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Smith who is the president of Andover's Farm and Garden Association, and the first speaker was Miss Helen Holmes, president of the Massachusetts Association. Her talk was on "A Spring Garden" and so enticing did she make the appeal for planting, nursing and petting flowers and vegetables, that one wished to go out at once to begin work in the sunshine with the birds.

Mrs. George N. Crocker, another member of the Association, told of the way in which this organization has grown in the past few years, of its accomplished work and helpfulness. There are now over 2500 members.

Mr. John Kelley, a buyer for A. S. Dorr in Boston, gave a most eye-opening account of the way in which he was able to turn all the huge quantities of wasted meat into nourishing soup for poor children. Two cents for a seven-ounce cup of hot appetizing soup, is what these children pay and results show that their health has greatly improved.

By the time he had finished his entertaining story, everybody was quite ready to sample his soup. The cafeteria luncheon was exceedingly popular and everything was delicious, well served and reasonable in price. Soup, sandwiches, salads, rolls, ice cream, cake, coffee, doughnuts and cheese were served by the ladies in charge. They were: Mrs. Henry A. Bodwell, Mrs. David Shaw, Mrs. George Hussey, Mrs.

F. B. Goff, Mrs. M. S. Farlow, Mrs. B. M. Allen, Miss Sarah Frost, Mrs. Gerard Chapin and Miss Amelia Shapleigh.

After luncheon at a little after two o'clock, the afternoon session began, with an account of the Andover School Gardens by Mrs. John Derrah. She was supervisor of the gardens last season and told of the enthusiastic and splendid spirit shown by the school children in caring for their gardens. About 250 pupils enlisted and over 175 carried out the work to a successful harvest. The story of Tommy, who was hanging about after school, and when asked where he was going to have his garden, replied, "I ain't got none. I thought you was givin' 'em away today, so I came to get one," showed a need for some public land. Through the kindness of the Public Safety committee, Locke's field became a school garden with twenty-four individual plots where children worked after school.

Mrs. Derrah gave so much of her time and helpful advice to bring about the good results of the school gardens, that she deserves all the encouragement and mutual hand-in-hand spirit of helpfulness possible from the parents.

The next speaker was Miss Millicent V. Lewis who has been in France with the Smith College Relief Unit. She gave many both amusing and pathetic pictures of their attempts in the devastated land to bring about some of the former conditions of prosperous gardens and farmyards. "Farming in Picardy" was the subject, and although they were obliged to move from that region, they felt that their experience would make for future success.

Miss Elizabeth Sawyer is president of New Hampshire's Land Army, and is known to Andover through her brother, James C. Sawyer, and also because of her big dairy farm in Dover. She told of the work of the units of girls on the farms during the past summer, especially the unit of Simmon's College girls, who were at Lake Winnepesaukee. That farming is splendid healthy work for any girl could not be doubted after Mrs. Sawyer's accounts of the way in which they lived there and loved their work.

The day was well spent and the memory of much pleasure and helpful instruction was carried away by the many who attended. Mrs. Henry A. Bodwell, Mrs. Maude Farlow, Mrs. George L. Selden, Mrs. Wm. A. Trow, Miss Mary Byers Smith and Mrs. N. E. Bartlett are the ones who were so greatly responsible for the day's success.

One Hundred Twenty-six Punched Boys to be Entertained

A meeting of the Punched Alumni committee was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Ella Holt, Maple avenue.

The committee have decided to assess the members one extra dollar this year, besides their annual dues, making a total of two dollars, on account of the luncheon we will give to our returning soldier boys.

A list from Principal Hamblin shows a record of one hundred twenty-six Punched boys in the service.

Save this date, May 13th, for the Punched Reunion, and Welcome Home for the boys. The next meeting of the committee will be held May 16th.

"No beer, no work," will probably subside into near-beer and near-work.—Boston Herald.

HOW CAN YOU TELL YOUR FAVORITE TOBACCO?

As Plain as the Nose on Your Face—Just Smell It

Smokers do not have to put tobacco in their pipes to find out if they like it. They can just rub the tobacco between the palms of their hands and smell it. The nose is an infallible guide to smoking enjoyment.

All smoking tobaccos employ some flavoring "to improve the flavor and burning qualities of the leaves", to quote the Encyclopedia Britannica. Naturally, there is considerable difference in the kind of flavorings used, and the nose quickly detects this difference. TUXEDO Tobacco uses the purest, most wholesome, and delicious of all flavorings—chocolate. And the almost universal liking for chocolate in a great measure explains the widespread popularity of TUXEDO Tobacco.

Carefully aged, old Burley tobacco, plus a dash of pure chocolate, gives TUXEDO Tobacco a pure fragrance your nose can quickly distinguish from any other tobacco. Try it and see.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

NEVER was such right-handed-two-fisted smokejoy as you puff out of a jimmy pipe packed with Prince Albert! That's because P. A. has the quality!

You can't fool your taste apparatus any more than you can get five aces out of a family deck! So, when you hit Prince Albert, coming and going, and get up half an hour earlier just to start stoking your pipe or rolling cigarettes, you know you've got the big prize on the end of your line!

Prince Albert's quality alone puts it in a class of its own, but when you figure that P. A. is made by our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch—well—you feel like getting a flock of dictionaries to find enough words to express your happy days sentiments!

Toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

Another Lovely Shower

The teachers of the primary department of the Free Church held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. George Carter on Wolcott avenue. Instead of being a business meeting, it turned into a most happy surprise party for the superintendent, Miss Lucy A. Allen.

She was presented a box containing an aluminum casserole in a silver holder, by Mrs. Carter who made a fitting speech, to express the good wishes of the whole department. Then the folding doors were thrown open and revealed a charmingly decorated dining table laden with cakes and candies and nuts. Pink and white sweet peas and carnations and pink crepe paper festoons, made the room lovely and showed the artistic ability of Miss Arlene Maskell and Miss Anne Leslie. Places were set for fifteen. In the center of the table was a huge bridal cake the cutting of which caused much merriment. Miss Frances Otis was the lucky one, in getting both the ring and the money.
A beautiful shower bouquet of pink and white sweet peas was presented to Miss Allen, and its lasting quality was attached in the shape of many rattling aluminum kitchen necessities which made up the shower. This made it a "rattling" shower, and the evening was one long to be remembered by everybody there. They were: Miss

Allen, Mrs. Amy Briggs, Miss Feecey, Mrs. George M. Carter, Mrs. W. A. Mitchell, Miss Anne Leslie, Miss Arlene Maskell, Mrs. Lewis Paine, Miss Frances Otis, Miss Helen Donald, Miss Emily Walker, Miss Virginia Hess, Miss Margaret May, Miss Isabel Peters, Miss Hazel Stiles and Miss Alexina Harris.

The Return

Golden through the golden morning
Who is this that comes,
With the pride of banners lifted,
With the roll of drums?

With the self-same triumph shining
In the ardent glance,
That divine, bright fate-defiance
That you bore to France.

You! But o'er your grave in Flanders
Blow the winter gales;
Still for sorrow of your going
All life's laughter fails.

Borne on flutes of dawn the answer;
"O'er the foam's white track,
God's work done, so to our homeland
Comes her hosting back.

"Come the dead men with the live men
From the marshes far,
From the mounds of no-man's-valley,
Lit by cross nor star.

"Come to blend with hers the essence
Of their strength and pride,
All the radiance of the dreaming
For whose truth they died."

So the dead men with the live man
Pass an hosting fair,
And the stone is rolled forever
From the soul's despair.
Eleanor Rogers Cox in The Century

Our congratulations to the first Andover boy who enlisted in the Great War, and who came through successfully, — Corporal Norman McLeish.
From October 1911, to April, 1919.

Many Andover persons may be interested in the exhibition of official photographs that are now at the Boston Public Library. There are three hundred of the War Department's pictures, showing the 26th Division in France; also about fifty others of the recent parade of the 27th Division in New York. The exhibition will be continued until after the parade of the Twenty-sixth Division in Boston.

The pictures taken in France give an idea of the life of the soldier except when actually engaged in battle. The prints are distinct and there are portraits of hundreds of New England lads, who will be recognized by friends and relatives when they visit the exhibition. In many cases, names of individuals and organizations appear with the pictures.

Included in the collection are a number of pictures showing Yankee boys as audiences before the platforms on which Y. M. C. A. entertainers appeared. In one of these pictures, Miss Elsie Janis appears seated on the edge of the platform, while her place has been taken by a soldier who has caused the actress to laugh with the rest of the audience.

Girls of the Salvation Army are shown in different environments. There are pictures of groups of them wearing their "tin hats" with gas masks hanging from their shoulders, while they make pies just behind the front line trenches.

The daily life of the soldier is shown in pictures of him as he ate and slept,
as he stood in trenches whose parapets were covered with snow, as he travelled from place to place through the mud, and as he waited his turn to put his clothing into the disinfecting machine.
While the pictures are mainly devoted to the men in the ranks, there are included in the collection numerous photographs of General Edwards, General Cole, Colonel Logan and other officers, as they went about their duties in France.

The burning question is, when is a President not a President? — "The Economist." We suggest the answer:
When he is a cross.

PALM SUNDAY MUSIC

Choir of Christ Church to Sing
Faure's Palm Branches
Next Sunday

The music to be sung in Christ church on next Sunday will be appropriate to Palm Sunday, the day on which Christ made His triumphal entry into Jerusalem nineteen hundred years ago.

"Ride on! ride on in majesty!
Hark! all the tribes hosanna cry;
O Saviour meek, pursue Thy road
With palms and scattered garments strowed.

The Offertory anthem, "Palm Branches", to be sung at both services
next Sunday, was written by the French composer, Faure, and it is interesting to note that this anthem is the universal favorite of France, especially Paris, on Palm Sunday.

The order of music will be as follows:

Organ Prelude, "Palm Branches"	10:30 A.M.	Musgrove
Processional Hymn 90, "All glory, laud, and honor"		Faure
Venite		Teicher
Hymn 467		Randall
Benedictus		Haydn

Hymn 94, "The royal banners forward go"		Parker
Offertory Anthem, "Palm Branches"		Faure
Hymn 660		Dykes
Recessional Hymn 91, "Ride on, ride on in majesty"		Dykes
Organ Postlude, "Les Rameaux"		Faure

HOME AT LAST

not fortunate enough to see the ones
their eyes were straining in vain to see,
even though much distance was between the waves and smiles, it was more than worth it.

Mrs. Markham Stackpole and her son Pierre, were on the Monitor, and then landed at the pier to await the coming of Capt. Stackpole, the beloved chaplain of the regiment. And, after eighteen months of separation they could talk to him for fifteen minutes before he had to entrain for Camp Devens.

William Lindsey was the other lucky one who saw his son Carl, to talk to for a few minutes. The many other Andover people had to be content with going to the trains and waving to their boys from the platform. Several were seen, and it was good to know that Jimmy Dick, Alfred McKee, Harold Larkin, Arthur Cole, Everett and George Collins, Charlie Bowman and George Abbott are really in this country.

Of course others were seen, too, and there were nearly thirty Andover boys
in all who went at once to Camp Devens.
Only one of this lucky group will not return, John Baker gave his life in France. Two others that were expected did not arrive yesterday, and that caused disappointment for their families and many friends. They are Byron Morrill and Walter Groat. The latter has been transferred to detached service, and Private Morrill was not quite well enough to return. They expect he will come on a transport soon.

over to greet the boys at the pier were:
Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dugan, Mrs. John
Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Collins,
Mrs. J. S. Morrill, Mrs. F. B. Groat,

Helping Father

A bright-eyed little boy in a sailor suit saluted the occupants of a passing motor car so quaintly that they stopped to give him sixpence.

"You're a very polite little fellow,"
the lady motorist said. "Do you salute
all the strangers who pass in the same way?"

"No, no, ma'am, only motorists," the boy stammered, fingering his sixpence nervously. "Father says I've to be polite to them, because motorists bring him trade."

The lady seemed disappointed.
"What is your father's trade, my little man? Does he repair motor cars?"
"No, ma'am; he's an undertaker,"
was the little fellow's response.—Tit

SOLDIERS IN TOWN

they got transferred to the Finland and sailed for France. Nobody, of course, knew just what was happening or where he was going.

Sergt. Daley is in splendid physical condition and said that all the other Andover boys whom he had seen, were also feeling fit and fine.

Corp. Holden on America

Corp. William Holden of the 103rd
Infantry, and son of Mr. and Mrs.
James Holden of Main street, arrived on the "America" Saturday, and is now at Camp Devens. He enlisted with Co. L, 104th Infantry, but he and another Andover boy, William Lowe, got transferred. He has taken part in all the battles with the 26th Division.

Corp. McLeish First to Enlist

The first Andover boy to enter the Great War was Corporal Norman K.
McLeish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McLeish of Buxton Ct. He went to Scotland and joined the Gordon Highlanders in October, 1914. From the spring of 1915, until the summer of 1918, he was in active fighting, first at Flanders and later on the Salonic front. He escaped being wounded, but for many months he endured the terrible suffering brought on by that dread sickness, malaria. In Malta he was cared for in the hospital and then finally was sent to England to recover
in a more healthy climate.

He arrived in this country on the Mauretania with 2700 other Americans, who had been in nearly fifty different
British units on their various fronts.
They are all at Camp Mills, now held as aliens, until they can prove to the Commissioner of Immigration at Washington, that they previously lived in this country.

Bugler Davis Wounded in Shoulder

Elmer Davis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs.
Elmer Davis of Harding street, arrived Saturday on the "America" is now at Camp Devens. He is a member of Company F, 101st Infantry, and took active part in the great drives.

In the battle of Chateau Thierry he was wounded by high explosive shells which paralyzed his legs so that he could not stand for several days, and had to go to the hospital. He returned to his Company and was in the last great drive in the Argonne Forest.
About three hours after going over the top, a machine gun bullet hit his left shoulder. The wounded bugler sought shelter in an evacuated German trench, but the firing came too near and they were obliged to move. He was one of the least badly wounded, so helped to put others in the ambulance, then started off, carrying a man on his shoulder. Of course, he had his patient and himself to defend and to get back to safety. The only way home was to go over the top again, and it was while struggling along out of the trench, that a machine gunner finally got him in the left shoulder. Burning with pain and weak from his wound, he managed to get his patient to the dressing station.
But he himself was obliged to go to the hospital, too, where he remained for several months. The wound, of course, had become greater, because of the strain and heavy burden of carrying so that his shoulder and arm were very stiff and painful.

Anyhow, he is well again now, and hopes soon to be at his home in Andover.

Private Wm. Lowe on Agamemnon

Another Andover boy to arrive
this week, is Private William Lowe, of Company L, 103rd Infantry, who arrived Monday on the Agamemnon.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert
Lowe, and was born in Arbroath,
Scotland. He enlisted in February 1917,

and was in training for several months at Springfield and at Westfield. He has been through all kinds of experiences but is still alive, and hopes soon to be playing soccer again. He is now at Camp Devens.

Lindsay Ralph at Home

Private Lindsay Ralph of the medical corps, 55th Artillery, returned to his home last Saturday, after having been mustered out of service. He arrived in New York, March 25th on the "George Washington" with the casual company
after a year's service in France.

Private Ralph was first stationed at Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont after his enlistment in medical service. He sailed for France, October 1917, and was in the big battles of Chateau Therry, Aisne and Argonne Forest. He had been ordered to St. Mihiel, but the armistice came before he started for that part of the Western front.

A full choir rehearsal will be held in the parish house this evening at 7:30 o'clock, and all the members of the choir are asked to be present. During Holy Week there will be a rehearsal for the boys on Monday afternoon, April 14, at 4:30 o'clock, and on Wednesday evening, April 16, a rehearsal for all the members of the choir will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

"I Am a Soldier and Co Where I Am Sent"

The Secretary of War bestowed upon General Wood, Saturday, at Washington, the Distinguished Service Medal,
with the following citation:

Major General Leonard Wood,
United States Army, for especially meritorious and conspicuous service as a department, division and camp commander during the war. He has displayed qualities of leadership and professional attainments of a high order in the administration and training of his various commands, and has furthered in every way during the war the system of officers' training schools.

General Wood is the only Regular Army officer of his grade wounded in the war. He passed all service tests for overseas service and organized and trained two divisions and a total of more than 100,000 men, but was not permitted by the Administration to lead them in battle.

EASTER HERE AT LAST

Spirit of New Life and Joy To Be Found In All Andover Churches Sunday. Special Music and Services.

AN EASTER CANTICLE

In every trembling bud and bloom
That cleaves the earth, a flowery sword,
I see Thee come from out the tomb,
Thou risen Lord.

In every April wind that sings
Down lanes that make the heart rejoice,
Yea, in the word the wood-thrush brings,
I hear Thy voice.

Lo! every tulip is a cup
To hold Thy morning's brimming wine;
Drink, O my soul, the wonder up—
Is it not Thine?

The great Lord God, invisible,
Hath roused to rapture the green grass;
Through sunlit mead and dew-drenched dell,
I see Him pass.

His old immortal glory wakes
The rushing streams and emerald hills;
His ancient trumpet softly shakes
The daffodils.

Thou art not dead! Thou art the whole
Of life that quickens in the sod;
Green April is Thy very soul,
Thou great Lord God.

—Charles Hanson Towner

Easter has a deeper meaning this year than ever before. The thought that "He is Risen" has come to bring comfort to many, sorrowing for those fallen in the service of liberty. That there is a Life after Death must be true since so many brave ones have

"poured out the red Sweet wine of youth; gave up the years to be Of work and joy, and that un hoped serene That men call age; and those who would have been, Their sons, they gave, their immortality."

And so this year the Easter music in the churches will bring sweet help to many. The bright glad spirit of the springtime that proves the re-awakening of Life and Beauty every year, that nothing can be Dead forever—that spirit of New Life will be in the hearts of everyone on Easter day.

The Andover churches will all have special music at their Sunday services. The choirs have been cheerfully rehearsing, in order that they may bring the messages to "Awake, Thou That Sleepest!" and "Lift Up Your Glad Voices! Christ is Risen!"

BATTERY BOYS FINE

Their Happy Spirit, Good Health and Joy at Being Home Brings New Life to Town

The Andover boys of Battery F, who have been at home this week, have all seemed so well, and in such good spirits, that just their presence for a few days has waked up the town and given it a spring tonic. Such delight at being home, at seeing old friends in the "good old square" and at knowing that real beds and real food and clean un-coddled clothing all are at hand, causes such a general good humor, that it sticks out on all the faces of the returned heroes. And the smiles of welcome that greet them help, also, to create the general atmosphere and good will and friendliness that seems to pervade the town these days.

The boys have been so very fortunate in keeping together, as they fought in the thick of battle, that they may well be called the lucky battery. Only one did not return with them, and he was not killed on the battlefield. He died of pneumonia in France, — John Baker.

One of the Andover boys, Corp. Ralph Partridge missed only two days of actual fighting at the front; while Corp. Lawson and the two Larkins were in the gunner corps and worked right on the firing line from the beginning to the end.

Arthur Cole was gassed twice, once at Chateau Thierry and once at Verdun. Top sergeant Daley was also gassed, and while working the same sniper gun which Sergt. Larkin had at the beginning of the Chateau Thierry drive. Sergt. Collins was out with a sniping gun for five days with the infantry at Verdun.

The boys said that the German air raids were the worst of anything they had to fear. When the weather was good, every night their planes swept the skies, dropping bombs and firing their guns.

From the slight shelter of a pup tent, the prospects of escaping death were slight, and many Americans were killed each night. Again did Andover's boys seem to bear charmed lives.

Again the call comes for this town to finish up a job well begun and the Victory Fifth quota of approximately $615,000 will be helped along by every individual who wants to belong to the class of patriotic citizens.

In the first two drives Andover and North Andover worked together, having for their combined quota, $400,000 and $673,000. For the third and fourth loans, each town worked alone, and Andover's allotments were $434,000 and $818,000. For the Fifth Loan, the country's quota is not so large and it is probable that the town will have a proportionately lower quota.

"Buy Early" is the motto again; and he who realizes that the investment is a privilege as well as a patriotic duty, will not have to be urged to "Buy Early." Andover citizens wherever they buy, should be sure to have the credit go to the town. This was done in the last loan to a great extent, but if a person buys through some other town or city, it is most necessary that he or she personally follow up the purchase and see to it that Andover actually receives the credit.

The rate of interest this time is the highest yet, and is four and three-quarters percent or three and three-quarters percent for tax exempt notes. The treasury reserves the privilege of redeeming the notes in three years instead of four. The date of the notes is May 20, 1919 and the first coupon will come due December 15, 1919 and June 15th and December 15th thereafter. This issue is limited to $4,500,000,000 except as it may be necessary to increase or decrease the amount to facilitate allotment. That means that over-subscriptions will be rejected. The bonds mature May 20, 1923.

The subscriptions may be made in the three ways as before. Through the Andover National Bank and the Andover Savings Bank full payment may be made or government plan of payments may be made. The government plan is as follows on these Victory Loan notes:

With application (on or before May 10th) 10%; July 15, 1919, 10%; August 12, 1919, 20%; September 9, 1919, 20%; October 7, 1919, 20%; November

"The False Faces" Based on Vance's Romance

Louis Joseph Vance, who wrote
"The False Faces," which recounts the further adventures of the now reformed "Lone Wolf," and which was picturized by Thomas H. Ince as a Paramount-Artcraft special feature, is one of America's most popular novelists.

This picture, directed by Irvin Willat,
will be seen at the Colonial theatre
next Thursday.

The star is Henry B. Walthall, one of filmdom's most popular actors, who won fame by his splendid work in "The Birth of a Nation," the David W. Griffith masterpiece.

Charles Ray's New Paramount
Photoplay Full of Fun and Excitement

The spirit of student life, the excitement rivalry and fun of the campus, are to be found in "The Girl Dodger,"
the latest Paramount picture starring Charles Ray, which will be shown at the Colonial theatre next Tuesday, bargain
day. This photoplay is a Thomas H.
Ince production written by J. G. Hawks and directed by Jerome Storm.

Mr. Ray is cast for the part of a dreamy bookworm student, who blossoms forth finally, in a most surprising manner to help out a livelier fellow student. The mixup ensues when a girl who is engaged to the other student is mistaken for a chorus girl enamored of that young gentleman.

A fine cast supports the star, with Doris Lee as the leading woman. Miss Lee is a Thomas H. Ince discovery and has done much fine work. Comedy is the keynote of the production, but there is a whimsically delightful love story as well, and at least one "scrap" that will again bring Mr. Ray's abilities in that direction, into prominence. On the same program will appear Alice Brady in "The Hollow of Her Hand."

WILBUR
"A Sleepless Night," a new farce by Jack Larric and Gustav Blum, will be presented at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, next Monday evening, April 21st, by the Messrs. Shubert. The exceptionally company includes Peggy Hopkins, Ernest Glendinning, Donald Gallaher, Josephine Drake, William Morris and Carlotta Monterey. The play was written primarily for laughing purposes, and it certainly succeeds.

A young artist and his sculptress wife are masquerading as strangers in order to secure remunerative commissions from a millionaire. They secure the commissions and establish themselves in Mr. Chandler's home. Then complications begin to develop. Chandler's ward, Rene, and his son, Talbot, respectively, become enamored of Mr. and Mrs. West. All kinds of entanglements arise because of this situation and, as in the case of so many of the recent farces, the events center about the bedroom of one of the characters. The action, also, takes place at night; hence,
the appropriate name, "A Sleepless Night." Of course, before the third act is over, however, all complications are smoothed out and everybody is happy.

COPLEY
For its very first presentation in Boston, the Henry Jewett Players will appear at the Copley Repertory Theatre
next week in Sir Arthur Pinero's drama,
"The Thunderbolt." It has had but a few performances in this country, although it is one of the best known of that master-dramatist's works for the stage, and it should arouse no little interest among our local public that likes to see the most-talked-about plays of the present epoch.

"The Thunderbolt" is remarkable for the powerful story it tells of modern social life. It reveals the happenings in the lives of a group of people at a time when a considerable fortune is at stake, making what the dramatist calls a portrayal of a dramatic series of episodes in the history of a provincial family. In the first act is disclosed
a gathering of the heirs of the Morti-more family with their solicitors after the death of a rich relative who is supposed to have died without leaving a will.

The brisk and incisive dialogue, and their ambitions and prejudices, their jealousies and feelings of one kind or another towards each other, are brilliantly revealed by the dramatist.

In the second act comes the thunderbolt which gives the play its title, and it proves itself a veritable and well managed surprise to the audience. Another act portrays a family council in which the lawyers are making an arrangement for the administration of the estate, the final scene gathering up the tangled threads of the plot and bringing the whole to a satisfactory and strongly dramatic conclusion.

"The Thunderbolt" is one of Pinero's most ingeniously constructed and interesting plays, and it will be cordially welcomed by Boston audiences.

TREMONT
Paris boulevards or New York's Fifth Avenue, it is claimed, never saw a more spectacular display of beauty and fashion than that which adorns
John Cort's phenomenally successful musical comedy, "Flo-Flo," which opens an engagement at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, next Monday evening, April 21st.

"Flo-Flo" will be presented here by the same cast which made the musical comedy a magnet for theatregoers for many months at the Cort Theatre in New York last season, and which has been playing to crowded houses for the past six weeks at the Forrest Theatre in Philadelphia.

"Flo-Flo" is said to have lyrics that won't be forgotten, pithy lines, interesting situations, magnificent scenery, exquisite gowns, a cho us of which each member boasts of being a "perfect 36" and two teams of eccentric dancers that are surpassed by none in the country. It boasts of more pulchritude to every square foot of stage-floor space than any show on tour. The plot has to do with Flo-Flo, a shapely corset model;
Angelina Stokes, who loves a boy from Oshkosh, though she is being tricked
into a marriage with a bogus count;
Moser and Simpson, the ubiquitous proprietors of an exclusive Bride Shop;
and an acrobatic pair, Pinky and Aloysius, who imbue the piece with a Sherlock Holmes atmosphere.

The "Flo-Flo" personnel includes
Andrew Tombs, Rena Parker, James
B. Carson, Thomas Handers, Arthur
Millis, Bert Gardner, Edna Morn, Louise Beaudet, Armond Robi, Marjorie McClintock and Wm. Hugh Mack.

Matinees will be given on Wednesdays and Saturdays, with an extra matinee on Yankee Division day, next Friday, April 25th.

A Memorial to France

Colonel Harvey is energetically advocating erecting a monument in France in honor of the American dead, in the form of "an exact reproduction of the Washington monument to be erected, through voluntary contributions by our whole people, upon the famous battlefield in France." The Washington monument, he says, is a notable work of art, typifying in its splendid simplicity the rugged spirit of America.

Engineers have made an estimate that the total cost of such a memorial built of marble, corresponding in quality and color to that of the original, would not exceed $3,000,000. This amount, collected in small sums from the whole body of the American people, would not be a heavy burden. The idea is worthy of consideration, at any rate. Some sort of an American memorial will, of course,

be erected in France in due time, and it is important that the design should avoid offending the artistic sensibilities of the French people, and should also worthily commemorate the deeds of American soldiers on the soil of the French republic.

Section 45 of Part I of Chapter 490, Acts of 1909. A mortgage or mortgage of real estate may bring into the assessors of the city or town in which it lies, within the time prescribed by the notice under section forty-one, a statement under oath of the amount secured thereon on each separate parcel thereof, with the name and residence of every holder of an interest therein as mortgagor or mortgagee. The speakers and their subjects are as follows: Miss Helen Higgins, '19, "War Glimpses Here and There;" Miss Marion Matthews, '19, "Our Famous War Presidents;" Miss Ruth Cates, '20, "The History of the U. S. S. Mount Vernon;" Joseph Clinton, '20, "War Tanks;" Miss Helen Farley, '20, "Cape Cod Life;" Miss Phoebe Noyes, '20, "The Surrender of the German Navy;" Clarence Buckley, '19, "What Memorial Shall Be Given to Our Andover Heroes;" and Miss Gertrude Franklin, '21, "Our Navy in the War."

All of these subjects seem to be interesting, and a very keen prize speaking contest is looked for.

The following members of the class of 1919 have been appointed to prepare a class book: Misses Marion Matthews, Helen Higgins, Hazel Buck, and Agnes Dugan. Messrs. Alex Henderson and Fred Cronin.

Tomorrow morning the Punchard baseball team will open its baseball season, when it will meet the alumni team on the local playground. The Alumni team will be strengthened by the return of the Battery Boys, but Coach Lovely expects his team to come through, as he has a good pitcher in "Joe" Holland.

Herbert Otis has been elected treasurer for the class of 1920 during the absence of Robert Partridge, who is confined to his home by illness.

Not Quite Sure

Ruth Clifford, the moving picture star, has a cousin overseas. Recently his name appeared in the casualty list as wounded.

"Yes," said Miss Clifford in answer to an inquiry by her director, "he was wounded, but not seriously. We had a letter from the regimental surgeon."

"Where was he wounded?" asked Gerard.

"We are not quite sure. The surgeon mentioned the place, but we don't know whether it's an anatomical phrase or a French village."—Boston Globe.

Your Last Job

The Fifth, and generally believed to be the last, Liberty Loan incident to the conduct of the great war in so far as the United States is concerned, will begin to receive universal attention on Monday next. The terms under which the loan is to be subscribed have very wisely provided a rate of interest to make the loan attractive to the people who have money.

In this way there isn't the least question about its being subscribed, but there is a grave question as to how widespread the interest in it will be. Hundreds of thousands of people who have had their portion in the other loans that have been negotiated will be backward this time in again entering into this sort of obligation. This is going to be one of the unfortunate phases of the whole situation, and only by the most vigorous appeal and strenuous effort to let the public realize that they are still strongly bound up in the job of seeing the United States clear through will we begin to overcome this sort of opposition.

Of all the loans that have been pledged none has had a better right to demand universal support than the Victory Fifth. It represents the responsibility of the entire nation to finish the job. It demands that that responsibility shall be answered by every individual who can possibly afford it, if the loan is to have its proper place in keeping steadfast the faith of all the American people in their government.

The Victory Fifth Liberty Loan is everybody's obligation.

Public Arrogance

The parlor socialists of Boston have had a delightful time in complaining strenuously of the "arbitrary methods" exercised by the city officials of Lawrence and by the big mill officials who represent the employers of labor in the factories where industrial strife has been prominent for some weeks. The attitude of these complainers has been specifically directed against private wealth, private ownership, and private control of governmental forces in protecting private wealth.

In a night the scene has shifted, and we now find that arrogance and private control methods about which certain reformers have so publicly complained in Lawrence are overwhelmed by the arrogance and impertinence marking the attitude of a national official representing public ownership and control toward those people who have paralyzed the telephone industry of New England since Tuesday morning of this week. It is difficult to read the various statements and to analyze the attitude of both sides in the telephone strike and come to any other conclusion than that which places the responsibility of the present situation entirely upon about the most incompetent public official that an incompetent government has had in its entire career, and that the United States has had at any time within present memory. The very telegrams which Mr. Burleson has sent to Boston in connection with the situation since the strike began, show the most amazing ignorance of the situation and an even more amazing inability to comprehend the way in which it should be met. It is not surprising that the machinery of the Post-office itself has become demoralized as it is under these conditions.

The only surprising thing is that any appreciable portion of the public can be blind to the situation itself, and the seriousness of allowing a single public activity not now in public control to get under such control. The questions involved in the present telephone strike may be important for consideration but apparently they are of no consequence in the present controversy as to procedure. Here we find this Burleson person taking the position that either because somebody didn't wipe her feet when she entered his office, or somebody else failed to salaam properly when approaching his august presence, or in some other equally foolish way has offended his majesty's high station, it is impossible for the real demands that may be involved, to be given any consideration whatsoever. How long can even the world's richest nation stand this sort of a burden?

Editorial Cinders

It isn't easy to reconcile the determination by the various business houses to keep open for business on Saturday and close their stores on Monday, in this way celebrating Patriots' Day. We have never before had any notion that the observance of a holiday was entirely a choice from the standpoint of its effect on business. This very year the Legislature has been asked to work out a program very much like this, so that all holidays would fall on Monday, but it made very slight progress before the legislative body. Here business men are taking it upon themselves to adjust the situation and frankly we have some difficulty in reconciling this procedure. Patriots' Day is the nineteenth of April. If it fell upon Sunday it would be observed on Monday. Falling on Saturday before Easter, because some people wouldn't have all the things they wanted to use in their Easter adornment, the decision is to keep business going on Saturday and close on Monday. No one could wish more heartily than the Townsman does for prosperous trade for the various business houses of this section, but we don't like this way of getting it.

It is estimated that approximately two million dollars will be spent in Boston, officially and unofficially, in making a fitting greeting to the soldiers who will march in the parade on Friday. Nothing is too good for these boys; they deserve every sort of consideration but in addition to the sort of consideration shown toward them, we wonder if they do not expect the sort of consideration that looks to responsibility on their own part? It is not surprising that some people query in the light of the many serious difficulties confronting Massachusetts at the present time, if there couldn't be provided some better way of recognition than this display of money and general hurrah. We sincerely hope that the result of it all will not be one more enormous item of waste added to the many that have marked the conduct of war affairs in the United States in the past two years.

NEW PLANT AT STAMFORD

Carlisle Cord Tire Co. of Andover Will Build Factory and Employ 250 Hands

Under the above heading, a news story is published in the New York papers, which will be heard with regret by Andover people, for fear it may mean that the Andover plant of this progressive concern will have no expansion.

Stamford, Conn., April 1 (Special)—The Carlisle Cord Tire Company, operating a manufacturing plant at Andover, Mass., has bought from Clarence A. Burley here, a tract of land of ten acres in extent, with 1000-foot frontage on Fairfield avenue, which has been selected as a site for a factory. According to L. H. Homer, an officer of the company, the company has plans and will soon award the contract for the erection of a plant, the main building of which will be 250 by 150 feet, principally of cement and steel, with sawtooth roof, to employ about 250 hands at the start.

It is stated here that the company will continue to operate its plant in Andover, but that the principal factory and executive offices will be here. The president of the company is J. S. Bretz, of New York, who is also president of the Bearings' Company of America.

Reconstruction Fund Dance

A benefit dance for the Reconstruction Fund, will be held in the Town Hall, Friday evening, April 25th, at eight o'clock. Tickets fifty cents, music furnished by the Jazz orchestra. The committee in charge who have been working very hard to make it a success in every way, intend to introduce new features. Punched High School is the only High School in the state so far, to contribute to this worthy cause.

"A Year at the Italian Front"

Major Guy Lowell, the famous architect of Boston, has recently returned from Italy. He will give an illustrated talk in Phillips Academy Chapel, Monday evening, April 21st, at eight o'clock.

This was originally announced for the Phillips Club, but owing to the desire on the part of the public to hear Major Lowell, the Academy authorities have decided to hold it in the chapel. The public is cordially invited.

Blaze in Early Morning

Early Monday morning box 51 called out the fire department to extinguish what just escaped being a decidedly dangerous fire. In the two family house on Elm street, owned by Dominick Dowd and occupied by Daniel Gillard, an electric iron was left connected and on the ironing board. The burning iron ate through the board which had just burst into flames when discovered. Of course, the heat from the iron had grown intense and had blistered the walls and charred the woodwork. Coming at that early hour, made the fire seem more serious and awakened the neighboring families. The damage, however, was slight, and the family were fortunate to discover the flames at once.

Boy Scout Meeting Postponed

The weekly meeting of Troop 11, Boy Scout Council of Andover, was postponed this week, as Mr. Harry Tyler, the scoutmaster, was not in town. Every scout is requested to be present at the next meeting, as it will be very important.

"ALL SET" FOR LOAN

Andover's Campaign For Victorious Fifth Starts Monday. Captains and Teams Meet Today

Andover is again "all set" and ready to put through the Victorious Fifth. The chairman, Burton S. Flagg, has for the members of his executive committee: secretary, C. W. Holland; chairman of women's team, Mrs. John V. Holt; secretary of women's team, Elizabeth Cole and the publicity agents, John N. Cole and the captains of the respective districts whose names are given below.

At four-thirty this afternoon in Mr. Flagg's office, the women's teams, captains and lieutenants met to organize and get their data and equipment. The men hold their first meeting this evening, when two speakers sent out by the New England committee to have charge of this district which includes Andover, Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen, will give a general talk on the Loan's whys and wherefores. These men are Olin W. Hill and C. C. Spring of the banking firms of A. B. Leach and Co. and Harris Forbes and Co. respectively.

The selling of the bonds will be carried on by the canvassers and through the banks as before. Each house in town will be reached by some canvasser. Superintendent of schools, H. C. Sanborn, has sent out through the pupils in each school, circulars which will reach the homes and instigate the children's interest.

Each mill this time, will act as its own agent for the Andover Savings Bank in the installment payments. This includes Smith and Dove Mfg. Co., Tyler Rubber Co., Carlisle Cord Tire Co., and the Marland Mills.

Phillips Academy has been urged by Dr. Stearns to write home and find out just how much the school may count on from the students' subscriptions. These will go toward Andover's quota. Abbot Academy will be dealt with in the same way, and it is hoped that we will have splendid support from the two schools.

The Boy Scouts, under the direction of their leader, Henry G. Tyler, have been the poster distributors and they went out on Tuesday to post the town with calligraphic "Buy Early," "Invest," "Finish the Job," etc. The posters this time seem to be especially startling in their flashing appeals, and already the town is colored by their bright reds and whites and blues.

As in the case of the other drives, the canvassers wear badges as credentials, and give buttons and flags to the purchasers. They have the application blanks to be filled in and receipts which give the name of the purchaser, the amount of the bond, the initial payment made, and plan for further payments, as well as the name of the canvasser who received the subscription.

The captains and their teams are given below:

WHOLLY TRANSFORMED

Old Holt Store Scarcely Recognized
By Many Patrons and Friends
Present Yesterday at
Opening

From those who stepped inside the door of the old T. A. Holt store yesterday afternoon, these exclamations were heard, "Why, what a change!" — "Did you ever!" — "Isn't this fine!" etc.

Such a transformation as the clean white paint, the new hardwood floor, and the big open floor space, have brought about, make the store quite unrecognizable.

With a wholly new stock of merchandise, that includes the same type of first-class articles which the store has always carried, there will be a continued ability to be of service to Andover patrons.

Yesterday, during the afternoon and evening, many persons came to enjoy the hospitality of both the former and the present staff of workers at the store. An orchestra from Boston helped to make the occasion pleasant. Samples of sunshine cakes, La Touraine tea and coffee and Purity candy were generously given to the guests and the friendly spirit of that long-established store was felt by everybody present.

Of Importance to All

Those interested in the work of the Public Health association of our town, are urged to be present at its annual meeting in Punchard Hall, Thursday evening, April 24th, at 8.00 o'clock. Dr. Simpson, the state district health officer, is to speak, and has some pertinent suggestions to make.

Markets Open Tomorrow

All markets in town are to be open tomorrow, Saturday, April 19th, and will be closed on Monday, the 21st. This is done for the benefit of their patrons, who will wish to have the freshest and best meats and fish for Easter Sunday.

Miss Marion Farnsworth of Elm street, is employed at the Andover National Bank during afternoons.

Ninetieth Anniversary at Abbot

Miss Bailey has for the past few days, been attending a meeting of the Headmistresses Association, in Washington, D. C.

On Sunday morning in the recreation room of Draper Hall, Mrs. Churchill very kindly read to the members of Abbot Academy, from one of Professor Churchill's Palm Sunday sermons. The reading gave an exceptionally devotional character to the day.

Miss Emerson, who is associated with the work of Dr. Brewer Eddy, spoke in Abbot Hall at the regular Sunday evening service on the awakening of eastern countries, old and new.

Miss Harlan will hold the third and last in the series of Lenten meetings this afternoon, at 4.30 in Abbot Hall.

Wednesday, April 23rd, will be observed as the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of Abbot Academy. At 3.15 in Davis Hall, Mrs. Edith Wynne Mattheson Kennedy, will give a reading from Shakespeare's Heroines. This reading will be followed by a reception in Draper Hall.

Mrs. Sarah Fletcher, who was formerly known in Andover as Miss Utter, spent a few days early in the week, as the guest of Miss Kelsey. Mrs. Fletcher is a regular member of the army, and has recently returned from Reconstruction Aid Work in France. Her specialty is Physical Therapy. Mrs. Fletcher told in chapel on Thursday morning, of the wonderful opportunities she has had for service.

The Odeon Society of Abbot Academy, presented two short plays in Davis Hall, Tuesday evening, to raise money for the annual Abbot Academy Hindman Scholarship. The first play, "A Homespun Romance," was written by a senior at Hindman School, as a class exercise; the second, "Experience" was written by Mildred Frost, Abbot '19. Both plays were interesting and well carried out. In the intermission, Miss Dorothy Williams sang two old English ballads which, with many others have been preserved in our own southern mountain regions.

Miss Lydia Tecey of Portland, Maine, has returned to her home, after a four weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Amy Briggs of Main street.

Many Townspeople Welcomed Capt. Stackpole

Last Friday evening, Capt. and Mrs. Markham W. Stackpole kept open house for their many friends in town. The mothers and wives and friends of the boys who were with him in France, as well as many others, came to his home to welcome him and to make him realize how glad the townspeople are to have him back safely, after eighteen months of service as chaplain in France. Refreshments were served in the dining room, with Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. John Wesley Churchill pouring.

Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the Baptist Church, held on April 10th, ten were present. Several matters of business came up for discussion, and the officers for the coming year were elected. Those who served last year were unanimously chosen, as follows: president, Miss Edna P. Todd, vice-president, Mrs. Mary S. Jackson, secretary, Mrs. Ellis Hudson, treasurer, Mrs. Mary A. Woodburn, auditor, Mrs. Colver J. Stone.

Then followed the program, a chapter from "Baptists in World Service," showing something of the work of native pastors, teachers, and other Christian workers in foreign mission fields.

Fourth Dancing Class Held

The weekly High School dancing class was held Monday evening, in Punchard Hall, with Miss Elizabeth Loftus of the faculty, in charge. Music was furnished by Donald Watson, pianist of the Watson orchestra of Lawrence. Those present were: Misses Ruth Cates, Rita Adams, Esther Boutwell, Margaret Cronin, Mary Hart, Virginia Hess, Josephine McManus, Helena Wells, Hazel Buck, Marion Matthews, Marion Hill, Mary Clinton, Irene Murphy, Edna Woodhead, Mary Murphy, Eunice Lovejoy, Mildred Morse, Adelaide Dodge, Kathleen Hart, Mary Leary and Fannie Kilburne. Messrs. Frank Alley, Alex Henderson, Bernard Sullivan, William Dalton, Eric Chandler, James Brewster, Herbert Otis, Coburn Woodbury, Everett Lawrence, William Carter, Daniel Allen, Gilbert Stone, Dow Hamblin, Harry Payne, Joseph Lovejoy, Harold Bigger, Kenneth Coleman, James Soutar, John Sanborn, Fred Cronin, Earl Moody, Joseph Clinton, Harold Wells, William Lindsay and Harold Godfrey.

Bradlee Mothers' Club Gave Party

Last Friday evening, the Bradlee Mothers' Club of about thirty-five members, stole up the stairs of the apartment in the Arco building and surreptitiously entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Coutts. Presently they were joined by Mrs. Amy Briggs, who was asked to summon her daughter, Miss Lucy Allen. Miss Allen with Miss Florence Abbot, who was in the secret, and had been her guest for dinner, came across the hall and was completely surprised.

Nine years ago, Miss Allen was a teacher in Ballardvale, and had been most influential in making the Mothers' Club there, a flourishing success. She was, in fact, president of the club.

These thirty-five ladies had planned with Mrs. Coutts to surprise Miss Allen, and they brought a beautiful mahogany clock, with two mahogany candle sticks to match. The party turned out to be a regular family reunion with songs and games and ice cream and delicious home-made cakes. The guests went back and forth between the two homes, and everybody had a delightful time. Three teachers who taught in Ballardvale with Miss Allen, were also there: Miss Putnam, Miss Abbott and Miss Cope-

Your Last Job

The Fifth, and generally believed to be the last, Liberty Loan incident to the conduct of the great war in so far as the United States is concerned, will begin to receive universal attention on Monday next. The terms under which the loan is to be subscribed have very wisely provided a rate of interest to make the loan attractive to the people who have money.

In this way there isn't the least question about its being subscribed, but there is a grave question as to how widespread the interest in it will be. Hundreds of thousands of people who have had their portion in the other loans that have been negotiated will be backward this time in again entering into this sort of obligation. This is going to be one of the unfortunate phases of the whole situation, and only by the most vigorous appeal and strenuous effort to let the public realize that they are still strongly bound up in the job of seeing the United States clear through will we begin to overcome this sort of opposition.

Of all the loans that have been pledged none has had a better right to demand universal support than the Victory Fifth. It represents the responsibility of the entire nation to finish the job. It demands that that responsibility shall be answered by every individual who can possibly afford it, if the loan is to have its proper place in keeping steadfast the faith of all the American people in their government.

The Victory Fifth Liberty Loan is everybody's obligation.

Public Arrogance

The parlor socialists of Boston have had a delightful time in complaining strenuously of the "arbitrary methods" exercised by the city officials of Lawrence and by the big mill officials who represent the employers of labor in the factories where industrial strife has been prominent for some weeks. The attitude of these complainers has been specifically directed against private wealth, private ownership, and private control of governmental forces in protecting private wealth.

In a night the scene has shifted, and we now find that arrogance and private control methods about which certain reformers have so publicly complained in Lawrence are overwhelmed by the arrogance and impertinence marking the attitude of a national official representing public ownership and control toward those people who have paralyzed the telephone industry of New England since Tuesday morning of this week. It is difficult to read the various statements and to analyze the attitude of both sides in the telephone strike and come to any other conclusion than that which places the responsibility of the present situation entirely upon about the most incompetent public official that an incompetent government has had in its entire career, and that the United States has had at any time within present memory. The very telegrams which Mr. Burleson has sent to Boston in connection with the situation since the strike began, show the most amazing ignorance of the situation and an even more amazing inability to comprehend the way in which it should be met. It is not surprising that the machinery of the Post-office itself has become demoralized as it is under these conditions.

The only surprising thing is that any appreciable portion of the public can be blind to the situation itself, and the seriousness of allowing a single public activity not now in public control to get under such control. The questions involved in the present telephone strike may be important for consideration but apparently they are of no consequence in the present controversy as to procedure. Here we find this Burleson person taking the position that either because somebody didn't wipe her feet when she entered his office, or somebody else failed to salaam properly when approaching his august presence, or in some other equally foolish way has offended his majesty's high station, it is impossible for the real demands that may be involved, to be given any consideration whatsoever. How long can even the world's richest nation stand this sort of a burden?

It isn't easy to reconcile the determination by the various business houses to keep open for business on Saturday and close their stores on Monday, in this way celebrating Patriots' Day. We have never before had any notion that the observance of a holiday was entirely a choice from the standpoint of its effect on business. This very year the Legislature has been asked to work out a program very much like this, so that all holidays would fall on Monday, but it made very slight progress before the legislative body. Here business men are taking it upon themselves to adjust the situation and frankly we have some difficulty in reconciling this procedure. Patriots' Day is the nineteenth of April. If it fell upon Sunday it would be observed on Monday. Falling on Saturday before Easter, because some people wouldn't have all the things they wanted to use in their Easter adornment, the decision is to keep business going on Saturday and close on Monday. No one could wish more heartily than the Townsman does for prosperous trade for the various business houses of this section, but we don't like this way of getting it.

It is estimated that approximately two million dollars will be spent in Boston, officially and unofficially, in making a fitting greeting to the soldiers who will march in the parade on Friday. Nothing is too good for these boys; they deserve every sort of consideration but in addition to the sort of consideration shown toward them, we wonder if they do not expect the sort of consideration that looks to responsibility on their own part? It is not surprising that some people query in the light of the many serious difficulties confronting Massachusetts at the present time, if there couldn't be provided some better way of recognition than this display of money and general hurrah. We sincerely hope that the result of it all will not be one more enormous item of waste added to the many that have marked the conduct of war affairs in the United States in the past two years.

NEW PLANT AT STAMFORD

Carlisle Cord Tire Co. of Andover
Will Build Factory and Employ 250 Hands

Under the above heading, a news story is published in the New York papers, which will be heard with regret by Andover people, for fear it may mean that the Andover plant of this progressive concern will have no expansion.

Stamford, Conn., April 4 (Special).—The Carlisle Cord Tire Company, operating a manufacturing plant at Andover, Mass., has bought from Clarence A. Burley here, a tract of land of ten acres in extent, with 1000-foot frontage on Fairfield avenue, which has been selected as a site for a factory. According to L. H. Homer, an officer of the company, the company has plans and will soon award the contract for the erection of a plant, the main building of which will be 250 by 150 feet, principally of cement and steel, with sawtooth roof, to employ about 250 hands at the start.

It is stated here that the company will continue to operate its plant in Andover, but that the principal factory and executive offices will be here. The president of the company is J. S. Bretz, of New York, who is also president of the Bearings' Company of America.

Reconstruction Fund Dance

A benefit dance for the Reconstruction Fund, will be held in the Town Hall, Friday evening, April 25th, at eight o'clock. Tickets fifty cents, music furnished by the jazz orchestra. The committee in charge who have been working very hard to make it a success in every way, intend to introduce new features. Pynchard High School is the only High School in the state so far, to contribute to this worthy cause.

Andover is again "all set" and ready to put through the Victorious Fifth. The chairman, Burton S. Flagg, has for the members of his executive committee: secretary, C. W. Holland; chairman of women's team, Mrs. John V. Holt; secretary of women's team, Elizabeth Cole and the publicity agents, John N. Cole and the captains of the respective districts whose names are given below.

At four-thirty this afternoon in Mr. Flagg's office, the women's teams, captains and lieutenants meet to organize and get their data and equipment. The men hold their first meeting this evening, when two speakers sent out by the New England committee to have charge of this district which includes Andover, Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen, will give a general talk on the Loan's whys and wherefores. These men are Olin W. Hill and C. C. Spring of the banking firms of A. B. Leach and Co. and Harris Forbes and Co. respectively.

The selling of the bonds will be carried on by the canvassers and through the banks as before. Each house in town will be reached by some canvasser. Superintendent of schools, H. C. Sanborn, has sent out through the pupils in each school, circulars which will reach the homes and instigate the children's interest.

Each mill this time, will act as its own agent for the Andover Savings Bank in the installment payments. This includes Smith and Dove Mfg. Co., Tyler Rubber Co., Carlisle Cord Tire Co., and the Maryland Mills. Phillips Academy has been urged by Dr. Stearns to write home and find out just how much the school may count on from the students' subscriptions. These will go toward Andover's quota. Abbot Academy will be dealt with in the same way, and it is hoped that we will have splendid support from the two schools.

The Boy Scouts, under the direction of their leader, Henry G. Tyler, have been the poster distributors and they went out on Tuesday to post the town with calls for "Buy Early," "Invest," "Finish the Job," etc. The posters this time seem to be especially startling in their flashing appeals, and already the town is colored by their bright reds and whites and blues.

As in the case of the other drives, the canvassers wear badges as credentials, and give buttons and flags to the purchasers. They have the application blanks to be filled in and receipts which give the name of the purchaser, the amount of the bond, the initial payment made, and plan for further payments, as well as the name of the canvasser who received the subscription.

The captains and their teams are given below:

WHOLLY TRANSFORMED

Old Holt Store Scarcely Recognized
By Many Patrons and Friends
Present Yesterday at
Opening

From those who stepped inside the door of the old T. A. Holt store yesterday afternoon, these exclamations were heard, "Why, what a change!" — "Did you ever!" — "Isn't this fine!" etc.

Such a transformation as the clean white paint, the new hardwood floor, and the big open floor space, have brought about, make the store quite unrecognizable.

With a wholly new stock of merchandise, that includes the same type of first-class articles which the store has always carried, there will be a continued ability to be of service to Andover patrons.

Yesterday, during the afternoon and evening, many persons came to enjoy the hospitality of both the former and the present staff of workers at the store. An orchestra from Boston helped to make the occasion pleasant. Samples of sunshine cakes, La Touraine tea and coffee and Purty candy were generously given to the guests and the friendly spirit of that long-established store was felt by everybody present.

Of Importance to All

Those interested in the work of the Public Health association of our town, are urged to be present at its annual meeting in Punchard Hall, Thursday evening, April 24th, at 8:00 o'clock. Dr. Simpson, the state district health officer, is to speak, and has some pertinent suggestions to make.

Markets Open Tomorrow

All markets in town are to be open tomorrow, Saturday, April 19th, and will be closed on Monday, the 21st. This is done for the benefit of their patrons, who will wish to have the freshest and best meats and fish for Easter Sunday.

Miss Marion Farnsworth of Elm street, is employed at the Andover National Bank during afternoons.

Ninetieth Anniversary at Abbot

Miss Bailey has for the past few days, been attending a meeting of the Headmistresses Association, in Washington, D. C.

On Sunday morning in the recreation room of Draper Hall, Mrs. Churchill very kindly read to the members of Abbot Academy, from one of Professor Churchill's Palm Sunday sermons. The reading gave an exceptionally devotional character to the day.

Miss Emerson, who is associated with the work of Dr. Brewer Eddy, spoke in Abbot Hall at the regular Sunday evening service on the awakening of eastern countries, old and new.

Miss Harlan will hold the third and last in the series of Lenten meetings this afternoon, at 4:30 in Abbot Hall.

Wednesday, April 23rd, will be observed as the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of Abbot Academy. At 3:15 in Davis Hall, Mrs. Edith Wynne Mattheson Kennedy, will give a reading from Shakespeare's Heroines. This reading will be followed by a reception in Draper Hall.

Mrs. Sarah Fletcher, who was formerly known in Andover as Miss Utter, spent a few days early in the week, as the guest of Miss Kelsey. Mrs. Fletcher is a regular member of the army, and has recently returned from Reconstruction Aid Work in France. Her specialty is Physical Therapy. Mrs. Fletcher told in chapel on Thursday morning, of the wonderful opportunities she has had for service.

The Odeon Society of Abbot Academy, presented two short plays in Davis Hall, Tuesday evening, to raise money for the annual Abbot Academy Hindman Scholarship. The first play, "A Homespun Romance," was written by a senior at Hindman School, as a class exercise; the second, "Experience" was written by Mildred Frost, Abbot '19. Both plays were interesting and well carried out. In the intermission, Miss Dorothy Williams sang two old English ballads which, with many others have been preserved in our own southern mountain regions.

Miss Lydia Tecey of Portland, Maine, has returned to her home, after a four weeks' visit with her sister, Mrs. Amy Briggs of Main street.

Many Townspeople Welcomed Capt. Stackpole

Last Friday evening, Capt. and Mrs. Markham W. Stackpole kept open house for their many friends in town. The mothers and wives and friends of the boys who were with him in France, as well as many others, came to his home to welcome him and to make him realize how glad the townspeople are to have him back safely, after eighteen months of service as chaplain in France. Refreshments were served in the dining room, with Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. John Wesley Churchill pouring.

Officers Elected

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Mission Circle of the Baptist Church, held on April 10th, ten were present. Several matters of business came up for discussion, and the officers for the coming year were elected. Those who served last year were unanimously chosen, as follows: president, Miss Edna P. Todd, vice-president, Mrs. Mary S. Jackson, secretary, Mrs. Ellis Hudson, treasurer, Mrs. Mary A. Woodburn, auditor, Mrs. Colver J. Stone.

Then followed the program, a chapter from "Baptists in World Service," showing something of the work of native pastors, teachers, and other Christian workers in foreign mission fields.

Fourth Dancing Class Held

The weekly High School dancing class was held Monday evening, in Punchard Hall, with Miss Elizabeth Loftus of the faculty, in charge. Music was furnished by Donald Watson, pianist of the Watson orchestra of Lawrence. Those present were: Misses Ruth Cates, Rita Adams, Esther Boutwell, Margaret Cronin, Mary Hart, Virginia Hess, Josephine McManus, Helena Wells, Hazel Buck, Marion Matthews, Marion Hill, Mary Clinton, Irene Murphy, Edna Woodhead, Mary Murphy, Eunice Lovejoy, Mildred Morse, Adelaide Dodge, Kathleen Hart, Mary Leary and Fannie Kilburne. Messrs. Frank Alley, Alex Henderson, Bernard Sullivan, William Dalton, Eric Chandler, James Brewster, Herbert Otis, Coburn Woodbury, Everett Lawrence, William Carter, Daniel Allen, Gilbert Stone, Dow Hamblin, Harry Payne, Joseph Lovejoy, Harold Bigger, Kenneth Coleman, James Soutar, John Sanborn, Fred Cronin, Earl Moody, Joseph Clinton, Harold Wells, William Lindsay and Harold Godfrey.

Bradlee Mothers' Club Gave Party

Last Friday evening, the Bradlee Mothers' Club of about thirty-five members, stole up the stairs of the apartment in the Arco building and surreptitiously entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Coutts. Presently they were joined by Mrs. Amy Briggs, who was asked to summon her daughter, Miss Lucy Allen. Miss Allen with Miss Florence Abbot, who was in the secret, and had been her guest for dinner, came across the hall and was completely surprised.

Nine years ago, Miss Allen was a teacher in Ballardvale, and had been most influential in making the Mothers' Club there, a flourishing success. She was, in fact, president of the club.

These thirty-five ladies had planned with Mrs. Coutts to surprise Miss Allen, and they brought a beautiful mahogany clock, with two mahogany candle sticks to match. The party turned out to be a regular family reunion with songs and games and ice cream and delicious home-made cakes. The guests went back and forth between the two homes, and everybody had a delightful time. Three teachers who taught in Ballardvale with Miss Allen, were also there: Miss Putnam, Miss Abbott and Miss Cope-land.

The fire department was called out to a dangerous brush fire on the academy lot. After several hours of hard, persistent work, the fire was got under control. At one time, the flames were threatening the Jacques' homestead in Wilmington.

The complimentary dinner to the Ballardvale boys in the service, will be given Wednesday evening, April 23rd, at 6.45, in the Community Room. The invitation includes wife or lady friend. At nine o'clock, there will be a public reception and dance, to which all the village is invited.

Cordero who is just beginning the second year of a very successful pastorate here, and has fully earned the honors and esteem he receives from his congregation.

The B. V. V. I. S. has made plans to plant a memorial tree for every Ballardvale boy in the service. At a recent meeting, twenty trees were taken by different individuals. Anyone desiring to purchase a tree as a memorial, will please communicate with the Tree Committee, John A. Haggerty, chairman, or with Bancroft T. Haynes. The trees will be supplied by the Committee, and can be paid for when delivered. They can be planted either on private property, or in public places. Selection can be made of fruit, nut or shade trees.

Paid Fraternal Visit

A large delegation from Brook Lodge paid Ballardvale Lodge a fraternal visit Monday evening. Among others present were: William Thomas, Grand Chief Templar of Boston; Frank McLean, Grand Counsellor of Lowell; Deputy George F. Tilton and wife of Lowell, and Mrs. Mary Hackett, District Chaplain of Lawrence.

Lodge Deputy George F. Tilton, gave a very interesting and detailed report of the Grand Lodge Session, held recently at Springfield. Grand Chief Templar Thomas, gave one of his characteristically brilliant and timely addresses, explaining how circumstances caused him to again assume the leadership of the order for another year. He stated briefly some of the plans of the Grand Lodge executive for the ensuing year, and aroused considerable enthusiasm over the bright prospects for Good Templary in the old Bay State.

Many other speeches were made by other prominent members of the order. Refreshments were served and the social hour was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The meeting will be long remembered by each one who was present.

High Fares and Religion

The following bit from a Boston paper will be of interest to Andover persons. There is no doubt but what many agree with Mr. Donald and wish that the next change in the Bay State methods will prove more fair and helpful to their patrons.

"High fares interfere with religion, according to Selectman Walter S. Donald of Andover, who complained to the Public Service Commission yesterday that church attendance in Andover is falling off because the tariff charge by the Bay State Road between Lawrence and Andover is now twelve instead of six cents.

"Andover is one of the best paying towns on the Bay State line," said Mr. Donald. "We believe that the company is charging us excessively when it imposes a fare of twelve cents for a ride of "A man hurriedly entered a postoffice to find an address in the telephone directory," says the Portland Telegram; "but he found a lady studying the book very intently. He waited patiently for awhile, but she seemed no nearer the object of her search, and as his time was limited, he finally ventured: 'If you are in no great hurry, madam, would you be so kind as to allow me to glance in that book for just a moment?' 'Oh, certainly,' replied the lady; 'I was just looking it over to find a pretty name for baby.'"

Hempel Sings for Wounded Soldiers

Miss Frieda Hempel sang for the two thousand wounded soldiers at the Walter Reed Hospital last week, following her concert in the National Theater, Washington, D. C. As Captain McCall Lanham said in his brief introduction: "There was no need of introducing Frieda Hempel—everybody knew her!" And judging from the rousing welcome the boys gave her, everybody did.

Miss Hempel gave them practically the same program the fashionable afternoon audience had heard—the Alabieff Bird Song, with all the runs and trills of the woodland songsters; Invocation to the Sun God—a Zuni Indian traditional song of a barbaric beauty; the Blue Danube—with its irresistible rhythm; a group of French songs—and how the boys loved them. Their keen enjoyment and their evident understanding of the words, convinced one that many of them "picked up" more French over there, than they are telling about. Miss Hempel's accompanist, Mr. Frank Bibb—Lieut. Bibb by the way, just out of the service, played several piano solos for his comrades. Miss Hempel graciously gave several encores, and, of course, she had to sing "The Last Rose of Summer."

"You know 'Martha' was the first opera I ever heard," confided one of the boys to her, as she stopped to chat with them after the concert. "But I think you sang 'The Last Rose of Summer' even more wonderfully to-night."

"I must have," insisted the singer, "for I never had such a wonderfully inspiring audience before."

Another boy told her she "just made a fellow like hi-falutin' music;" and another wanted to know where he could get the little song she sang: "Her lips were so near—what else could I do?" Miss Hempel promised to send it.

As the big wheels of the roller chairs were turned, and the boys on crutches stepped back to make a broader path, and all the little courtesies were extended to her, Frieda Hempel fought back the tears and smilingly echoed their cheery greetings.

"And when are you going home?" she asked a blue-eyed boy, whose foot was carefully bandaged.

"Six months—and I tell you I'll be glad to see Pittsburgh."

"I'm going to sing there this Fall," broke in Miss Hempel. "Won't you come back after the concert and see me?"

"Indeed I will—and say—would you mind my bringing a girl?"

This engagement was but one of many made to go "back stage" with "Mother" or "Dad" or "a girl" when the singer comes to their home town.

"It was a great joy to sing for them, and a wonderful inspiration," said Miss Hempel. "Those poor boys—so brave and uncomplaining when they have suffered so much. What a comfort it is to know that everything possible is being done for them—but how glad I shall be when I know they are all able to go home and be 'spoiled'—just as they ought to be—by their mothers, wives and sweethearts."

HOW CAN YOU TELL YOUR FAVORITE TOBACCO?

As Plain as the Nose on Your Face—Just Smell It

Smokers do not have to put tobacco in their pipes to find out if they like it. They can just rub the tobacco between the palms of their hands and smell it. The nose is an infallible guide to smoking enjoyment.

All smoking tobaccos employ some flavoring "to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves", to quote the Encyclopedia Britannica. Naturally, there is considerable difference in the kind of flavorings used, and the nose quickly detects this difference. TUXEDO Tobacco uses the purest, most wholesome, and delicious of all flavorings—chocolate. And the almost universal liking for chocolate in a great measure explains the widespread popularity of TUXEDO Tobacco.

AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN CUTTING SHOE EXPENSE

"Many months of comfort at little expense" is the way Charles A. Pearson of San Diego, California, sums up his experience with Neolin Soles. Mr. Pearson had two pairs of shoes resoled with Neolin Soles, and after wearing them for twenty months writes: "I will have to get new shoes sometime, but so far as the soles are concerned, that time seems as far distant as when they were new."

This is typical of the experience millions are having with Neolin Soles. Created by Science to be durable, flexible and waterproof, these soles are an important factor in cutting shoe expense. You can get them on new shoes for the whole family, and for re-soles. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

Information Bureau at Camp Devens

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has opened an Information Bureau at Camp Devens. It is the purpose of this Bureau to aid in every way possible, any person seeking information regarding the location of various units of the 26th Division, also to locate boys from the various towns and cities.

This is located in Building No. 4171 in the present 101st Infantry area (formerly the 73rd Regiment) at the right of the main road of the Camp. Large signs, which can be easily seen from the road, designate the building. It is hoped that the people of Andover will avail themselves of this privilege, which is being given them by the Commonwealth. The boys of the 26th Division are also being aided by this Bureau as to the matter of entertainment, theatre tickets, hotel accommodations, etc., in Boston and vicinity.

"Noblest Patriotism"

President Francis H. Rowley of the Massachusetts S. P. C. A. says of humane education:

"It teaches the noblest patriotism—

the spirit of justice, fair play, compassion toward the weak and defenseless both among one's fellows and the creatures below him. It teaches the inalienable rights of others, however lowly and unprotected, it quickens the impulse to treat with justice both man and beast and bird, it stirs the heart to unselfish and courageous deeds to maintain the right everywhere against the wrong. Nothing could be more vital to the very life of any school. Never was such teaching more needed in the schools of the United States than at the present moment."

At Chemin des Dames, near Soissons, they saw a German night bomber brought to earth by a French anti aircraft gun, and split into many bits. Souvenirs of the plane were given out.

In the Argonne forest where not a spear of grass, and only stumps of trees told of the many months of its existence as No Man's Land, excellent opportunities were offered for the sweep of those Boche guns.

And yet the memories were not alone of deafening aircraft, banging bullets, dead soldiers and flying shrapnel, poisonous mustard gas and cooties. The thoughts of several good times, when Andover boys played their parts, will never be forgotten. A dinner, given by Captain Cover and the officers of the Battery, in the little town of Sassey to the sergeants, was attended by Sergeants Daley, McKee, Abbott, Larkin and Collins. They had all kinds of good things to eat, and a mighty fine time "getting-together."

Then there was a football team of the 102nd, of which the stars were Carl Lindsay and Everett Collins. Other Andover men on the team were Corp. and Sergt. Larkin and Corp. Lawson.

Everett Collins did not forget how to sing over there, either and many a time did he give pleasure to the boys by singing in the dugouts. After the Chateau Thierry drive especially, do they remember how wonderful it seemed to hear his voice singing there after those nightmare hours of battle were over.

Sergt. Daley had left the Battery at the signing of the armistice, and was at an Officer's Training School in Saumur, France. He gave up getting his commission, however, in order to come home with the other Andover boys.

And so here they are all back in this country together again, in the same town that has been having them constantly in their thoughts and prayers, throughout the dreadful period of war. May they who have been and experienced and we who have remained at home, both be better prepared and mutually helpful in meeting the new and changing conditions of pre-war times.

The Treasury Department is to award to every Liberty Loan worker a medal "for patriotic service in behalf of the Liberty Loans." These medals have been struck from German cannon captured in the war, and have a space for the name of the worker to be engraved.

Moreover, there is a large number of German helmets from which number two have been allotted to each town. They were captured by the Yankees at Coblenz and were intended by the Germans to be issued to their army to be worn in their triumphant entrance into Paris. It has been recommended that one helmet be awarded as a prize to the person who has secured during the week, the largest number of individual subscriptions to the Loan, on which the first payment has actually been made. The other may be given to the person who brings in subscriptions amounting to the largest volume in dollars. Both helmets might possibly go to the same person.

In connection with this Loan there are in Boston, the twelve camouflaged French whippet-type tanks. Then four special war relic trains loaded with materials captured from the Germans, are to make a tour throughout New England. They will visit nearly four hundred cities and towns, and will be in Andover, if all goes well, on May 2nd. At the Colonial Theatre during the drive, there are to be twenty-five or thirty motion pictures, which will feature this "Victorious Fifth." Each day will bring a new picture, and all the greatest stars have contributed their time and efforts toward enlisting interest in, and a hearty response to the Drive.

The clock which featured in the other Loans is not to be used this time, as the hands in a small town must of necessity move slowly and the novelty of that feature has worn off. Credit from Boston, however, is sent in each day, and

Touch Wood

"Touching wood" is a survival of the ancient custom of wapentake (weapon touch). Danish warriors cherished the custom of touching each other's spears in token that they would join arms in a common cause; and this touching of the wooden spear shafts became symbolic of mutual protection.—Exchange.

THE SHOP THAT'S DIFFERENT

The man who says he doesn't want to subscribe to the "Victorious Fifth" because he doesn't see how or where all the other Loan money has been spent, is like the father who says to his son: "Willie, where is that nickel I gave you last week?"

With all the latest heroes ever in our minds, it is good to take a day off and give a thought to the deeds of Paul Fievere and Captain Parker with his sixty brave minute men, who stood against the British eight hundred strong, and ushered in the independence of our United States.

In Frank P. Sibley's talk at the April meeting of the Massachusetts Press Association Monday, he said among other well worth while things, that he would have everybody, big and little, great and small, serve the country. No man should be allowed to speak of the United States as "my country" unless he could show that he had done something for his country. He would have each boy in the land, and each girl, too, undergo a course of training to last about a year, this to come between the high school and college courses.

Some could be given military training, others training in building roads, telephony, mining, transport work, forestry, munitions, in fact, in some branch of work which is needed in time of war; then, in case of war, America would have an almost unlimited force ready to do the multitudinous things necessary without such a waste of time in training them.

This would give the boys and girls the opportunity of speaking of "my country" because they would have learned that the chief motive in life was not to get a lot of money in the easiest possible way, but to close each day with the satisfaction that they had put more into the world than was there when they started work in the morning.

Secretary Glass met the many obstacles that had been feared in connection with the Fifth Liberty Loan, by evading them. Not that anyone doubted but what our wealthy and perfectly intact country would "put through" the Victorious Fifth; it wasn't that fear. But most of the inducements in the way of tax exemption and interest rates had been used up.

Perhaps the biggest surprise which came to the people, was the reduction of the amount of the Loan and the announcement that oversubscriptions would not be accepted. Of course, every other Loan has been over-subscribed and it stands to reason that this one will be, too, because of the splendid investment appeal that it makes to a good business man. There is the choice of the 3 1/2 percent "on the tax-exempt issue, or the 4 1/2 percent on the non-exempt and the issues are interchangeable. Certainly no offer could be more inviting. The need for "legging" people to buy seems to be obviated. And nowadays they do not need to be "convinced." They recognize a good thing and go after it.

In the last week's Local News Notes was an error in the giving of Mrs. Frank M. Foster's name instead of that of Mrs. F. Homer Foster, who was in charge of the meeting of the Courteous Circle of King's Daughters, when they had their "Polish Night." For that error we are exceedingly sorry.

Andover is one of the few fortunate towns that possess a loyal group of telephone operators. Such splendid spirit as has been shown in their sticking-to-the-post, in the face of all kinds of temptations to leave, shows that in this town are women who are sufficiently independent to abide by their own convictions. With New England's service so completely crippled, it is almost unbelievable that the workers here have been continuing to give service promptly and courteously throughout the week. And there is no doubt but what in the end, the gratitude and appreciation of the public will repay them, along with some kind of a more material reward.

And what about the gardens this year? Those who had war gardens last summer and the summer before have done all the dirty work, — they have dug and hoed and bent themselves double with planting seeds and zealous pampering and coaxing. Now the ground is in fine shape and will respond to slight effort on the part of the "farmers." It seems a shame to allow any land that was made fertile in war time, to get back into its former untamed state. Have you planted your garden yet? Can you resist the seed catalogues? Isn't the smell of the rich brown sun-warmed earth calling to you?

OBITUARIES

MISS ANNA S. DAVIES

The news of the sudden and tragic death of Miss Anna S. Davies of Ballardvale, came as a great shock to her many friends, and cast a spirit of gloom over the entire community.

Miss Davies was greatly beloved by all who knew her, because of her unselfish interest in others, and her willingness to help in every good work. She was an active worker in the Union Congregational Church, for many years a teacher in the Sunday School, and an earnest member of the Christian Endeavor Society. She was the local representative of the Andover Red Cross Chapter, and devoted a great deal of time and strength to this service, enlisting the ladies of the village in war work. She leaves two brothers, J. W. Davies of Reading and Charles E. Davies of Ballardvale.

For nearly a year she has been suffering from a complete nervous breakdown and melancholia. She will be greatly missed in all the activities of the village, in which she always took a leading part. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to her brother, Charles E. Davies, and his family. The funeral was held this afternoon at 3.30, at her late residence on Dascomb Road. The interment was in the Laurel Hill Cemetery, at Reading, Mass.
